Option #1...

Access Program Online Through Indiana DOE Moodle Online Learning Server

Mr. Teech Learns a Lesson: A Guide for Universal Precautions and Bloodborne Pathogen Training

- For your viewing ease, using the Flash Video Format, the video can be viewed in its entirety or each “chapter” individually, through the Indiana Department of Education’s Moodle Online Learning server. Accompanying required and optional documents are also available on this website.

Option #2...

Order A FREE Copy Of The Video On DVD

- If for training purposes it is not possible to access the internet and use the online version of the video, a FREE DVD copy of the video can now be ordered from the Indiana DOE. The IDOE reserves the right to evaluate requests for DVDs, and as necessary, limit those provided on a per person, per corporation/district, or organization basis.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION:

Use of the “Mr. Teech” video alone does NOT fulfill all of the points that the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) law (29 CFR 1910.1030) specifies must be included in Bloodborne Pathogen and Universal Precautions training. To provide instruction that fulfills each of the federally required elements, use of the document “Required Additional Training Items” is necessary regardless of the viewing option used (i.e. online or DVD).

For those not accessing the program through the Moodle Online Learning server, additional supplemental materials, some of which include; training logs, certificate of completion, Pre/Post test, and optional discussion points and questions related to the information being presented are also available for use for staff training and student use through the link below.
